One of Governor Vance's stories has floated down here from Raleigh. Somebody said to Vance, "You certainly can't deny that Merrimon has made a good Democratic Senator." 'Yes,' said the other neighbor 'but he stole the horse he made it with.'

The convention held at Burgaw on Friday, by the Republicans to select delegates to represent Pender county in the Senatorial Convention, seems to have got things badly mixed. Messrs. EDITOR POST.—The Pender county senatorial convention met to day. Each township appointed one from their number to recommend a committee of five to meet with alike committee from New Hanover county. The five gentlemen selected by the committee were accepted by the convention, after which the convention proceeded to ballot for a choice for a candidate for the State Senate, with the following result:

SOMETHING WORTH KNOWING.—We copy the following sketch from an old family bible belonging to a young friend of ours, printed more than a hundred years ago, thinking that perhaps it may interest some of our readers as it did us. "The two daily papers" are the only ones the poor fellow can see. Poor boy, better take a drink.

THE bible contains 3,566,489 letters; 8,10,671 words; 31,193 verses; 1,189 chapters; and 66 books. The word "and" occurs 4,622 times; "Lord," 1,854; "reverend," only one time and that in the CXI Psalm. The 27th verse of the 7th chap. of Extra contains the alphabet. The 19th chap. of the book of 2d Kings and the 37th chap. of Isaiah are alike. The first man recorded as buried in a coffin was Joseph, 50th chap. of Genesis 26th verse. No where but in the 13th chapter of 2d Timothy is the name of grandmother mentioned. There is no word of more than six syllables in the bible.

THE WILMINGTON POST.

W. P. CANADAY,
Editor and Proprietor.
WILMINGTON, N. C.,
SUNDAY MORNING, JUNE 16, 1878.

The state convention of the Bourbons was held at Raleigh on the 13th inst. They nominated for Chief Justice the present incumbent, the Hon. W. H. N. Smith and for Associate Justice the Hon. Thos. S. Ashe of Wedesboro, and John H. Dillard of Rockingham.

Senator Merrimon has written a "card" making four and a half columns in the Raleigh News, in which he vindicates his course in his election and subsequently, and sharply criticizes Gov. Vance. As much surprised as Republicans have been at Senator Merrimon's course since his election, they were not prepared for this present exhibition of blindness in which he arraigns nominally Gov. Vance, but really the Democratic party itself. Of this he seems to be totally unconscious. He did not at first seem to comprehend that he had done anything of which a regular party Democrat had a right to complain, and now he talks as innocently as if he were ignorant that he consented to accept an election from a coalition of bolting Democrats and Republicans, against the high ordinances of the caucus. It is not our fight, and we are not disposed to say much at present about what promises to be a sharp controversy. But by and by we may have something to say which will make somebody's ears tingle. Merrimon's election was not "done in a corner."

The Hon. W. P. Mabson of Edgecombe was in this, his native city, this week on a visit to his brother Col. Geo. L. Mabson. Mr. Mabson has now resided in Edgecombe for six or seven years and has represented that opulent county in both houses of the General Assembly and of the Constitutional Convention of 1875. His course in the legislature was such as to redound greatly to his honor, as his conduct as a citizen is such as to gain him the respect and confidence of the people of that county. At the late county Republican convention held at Tarboro on June 1st, he was unanimously and enthusiastically endorsed as their choice for member of Congress for the Second District. If Mr. Mabson should be nominated for that high position and elected, as he would be, he would do honor to the District and to the state of North Carolina. At the present time he holds the position of county Examiner of schools. We are pleased to record this evidence of prosperity on the part of a Wilmington boy, and if more of our young men were to follow Mr. M.'s example and strike out to carve a name for themselves, we should be equally gratified. Many of our citizens will reflect how hard he worked to lay the foundation for future success. In 1869 he removed from our city to Tarboro, where he engaged in teaching school, and his labors have been appreciated as is manifest by the esteem in which he is held by the citizens of his section of the state. He was a student at Lincoln University in Pennsylvania, and is now an unwavering friend of education.

THE COMMUNISTS' ELEMENT.

We are aware that this term does not properly describe all the elements of the various factions which are moving in one general direction. The Communists is the extreme of all those different organizations, such as the National Party, the Greenback Party, the Inflationists, &c., which are blindly groping their way forward seeking a remedy for real or supposed evils or injuries under which the laboring and producing portion of the population are suffering. Their leaders and spokesmen at present mostly disavow excesses but all these organizations embrace conditions which are revolutionary. They all combine within themselves those revolutionary qualities which are only a step inside the infatuation of the mob and the terror of anarchy, if they ever arrive at sufficient strength.

It must be admitted that this heterogeneous and irrational element is already of sufficient magnitude to demand the serious consideration of our statesmen. It must be admitted also that the laboring and producing portion of our population are suffering under disadvantages so great that there ought to be diligent and honest enquiries as to their causes. Some attribute this state of things to one cause and some to another, but as long as the evils exist, as undoubtedly they do, the strength of these discontented elements will not diminish. And the danger is that in such moments of frenzy as we saw last July all the interests of society will suffer without producing any relief. Exactly what can be done to allay this growing dissatisfaction it is difficult to determine. No class of public thinkers have as yet addressed themselves to the subject with anything like seriousness—or put forth any plan of remedy for evils which nearly everybody admits have an existence.

Nor would the population get any relief from the complainers themselves. If the theories of the leaders among the Communists were admitted and acted upon it would be anything but a relief to the evils of which they complain. Let us suppose that the great capitalists and the business men of our country at once were to accept all these wild theories of the Commune and abandon their manufactures, their ware houses, their railroads, and all business interests to the direction of these wild theorists; so that there would be no opposition at all to them; then the condition of the laboring population would be infinitely worse than it is now. There is not business capacity enough among the Communists of the whole world to conduct the manufacturing interests of Newark, or Lowell, or the commerce of one single small city, or the agriculture of the smallest state, or one trunk line of railroad. Withdraw for one month the managers of the business of the United States from their positions, leaving only the laborers, and the human mind cannot conceive the terrible misery, the unspeakable helplessness into which the laborers themselves would be thrown.

And yet this restive element exists in the country and is increasing to such an extent that it will become a factor in our politics. It has threatened to unbalance the political status of some states already, and it may hold the balance of power in the next legislature of one of the largest states in the Union. It must be met and dealt with if law is resisted the terrors of force will be invoked. If the purpose of these factions shall be attempted only by the milder means of the ballot they will be met by the ballot. In all proceedings against this political exorcism—shameful deform monster which is intruding itself upon society—we must not be misled into any hostility to honest labor itself or to the producing classes. The rights of labor must always be respected in a government like ours. All true statesmanship will always look towards the protection and elevation of the laboring classes, and the improvement of their physical and moral condition.

Democratic Legislation.
(Randolph Sun.)

The fact has not yet, perhaps, occurred to some who reside in the more rural districts that the last Legislature took away from the people the right to elect the Magistrates, and the County Commissioners, thus partially disfranchising every voter as to township and county elections. In depriving them of that right they say the people are incompetent to govern themselves. The magistrates are now appointed by the Legislature, and are in no wise responsible to the people, and the people are powerless to remove them under existing laws. These same irresponsible magistrates are clothed with the power to appoint the county commissioners who occupy the most important position of any in the county. Their duty is to exercise a general supervision and control of the poor of the country. They have power to levy the taxes, to exempt from taxation, to audit accounts against the county, to repair county buildings, construct bridges, keep up highways, establish schools, and decide in all cases of contested elections.

It is not all important that public men clothed with so great and important trust should be held responsible to the people for their acts? Is not every tax payer in the county, whether he be Democrat, Conservative or Republican, deeply interested in these local affairs? And should not every tax payer be entitled to a voice in saying who shall fill these important places and discharge these important duties? In taking the people from this right the Legislature has virtually said the people are not capable of managing their own affairs, and are not fit to elect their own officers.

If the Legislature can take from the people the right to elect their county commissioners, it can easily deprive them of the right to elect a sheriff or clerk, or even to vote at all. This same Legislature made provision for the establishment of what they call "Inferior Courts." These courts are to be held by the magistrates, and wherever these courts are established there will be a County Solicitor to prosecute in behalf of the State. This Solicitor also is to be elected by the magistrates. Thus it will be seen that the vital interests of the people are disregarded, their independence insulted, and their rights gradually taken away and placed in the hands of a favored few.

Is there no way to remedy this? Yes, there is one way, and that is, we must send men to the Legislature who are in favor of repealing those obnoxious laws, and who will restore to the people the right to elect their own county officers.

This is no party matter. A. H. Stewarts' Government was instituted for all. The blessings of civil liberty and human rights were intended for the many and not for a favored few.

The venerable Thurloe Weed, who at a very advanced age carries one of the clearest brains in America, writes the following to Post Master General Key:

NEW YORK, May 29th, 1878.

DEAR SIR:—I cannot resist the desire prompted by the reading of your letter to express my hearty and grateful sense of its timely and enlightened patriotism and courage. This is a momentous occasion for us all. Government was instituted for all. Government was instituted for all. The blessings of civil liberty and human rights were intended for the many and not for a favored few.

The venerable Thurloe Weed, To the Hon. D. M. Key, Post Master General, Washington, D. C.

The Senate Committee on Territories will visit the Indian Territory after the adjournment, to ascertain on the spot the condition of affairs there. Senator Garland is a member of the Committee.

OBITUARY.

William Cullen Bryant died in New York on the 12th inst., at the age of 81. His name is almost a household word in America, and he is known over Europe as one of the first poets of his time. His life was singularly successful and happy. He seemed to have very few reverses and he died leaving a large estate as the result of his useful life, and covered with honors.

The Rev. Nathaniel Bouton D. and L. L. D. of Concord New Hampshire died on June 6th, aged 80. He was for 50 years the Pastor of the Old North Church, and was a local historical author of much note and merit.

Mrs. Sarah Ross Corwin, widow of the late Thomas Corwin, Governor, U. S. Senator and Secretary of the Treasury, died of apoplexy at Lebanon, Ohio, on the 9th inst., aged 83.

Mrs. Elizabeth Jenkins, the mother of Mrs. Surratt who was executed at Washington in 1865 died near Surrattsville, Md., on the 7th inst., aged 88.

William Campbell died in New Castle, Eng., on the 26th of May last, aged only 22. He was probably the heaviest man in the world. At the age of 10 months he weighed 56 lbs., at the age of 10 years he weighed 252 lbs., and when he died weighed 728 lbs. He stood only six feet and three and a half inches in his stocking feet. His chest measured 76 inches, his thigh 47 inches and his calf 35 inches.

Mr. Thomas Winans, of Baltimore, son of the late Ross Winans, died at his summer residence, Newport, Rhode Island, on the 10th inst., aged 59. He was worth about $20,000,000, mostly made on contracts on railroads in Russia. He leaves a son and daughter full grown, who inherit his vast wealth, and three brothers who live in England.

Although he seldom appeared in society frequent magnificent entertainments were given at his mansion to hundreds of guests, to which the elite of Baltimore were glad to be invited. These assemblies were exceptionally brilliant, the music superb, the floral and other adornments beautiful and unique. The arts and the entertainments of the most magnificent description. He was a liberal patron of art and gratified his feelings in that direction by lavish expenditure. The Winans mansion is hung with the most superb paintings and filled with costly statuary and rare articles of virtue collected from every corner of the world. Upon his return from an extended trip to Europe a few years ago the City Council—successor to the men who had condemned his love of art—passed resolutions of welcome, and a delegation of city officials presented them to him at his residence. Mr. Winans learned the trade of a machinist, in which he displayed that inventive genius which so conspicuously distinguished him and his ancestors. When the Emperor Nicholas was building the railroad from Moscow to St. Petersburg General Whistler (Mr. Winans' brother-in-law) who had gone to Russia as Chief Engineer, invited Mr. Winans there to take charge of the machinery on the Moscow and St. Petersburg Railway. He formed a company with Messrs. Eastoe & Norris, of Philadelphia, and entered into contracts with the Russian government on some of which he and father and partners realized princely fortunes. Although interested deeply in mechanical pursuits he possessed literary tastes and was highly cultivated.

BEN. HILL AND THE WORMLEY HOTEL MEETING.

SENATOR Hill informs a correspondent of the New York Times that several weeks before the "conference" at the Wormley House took place forty-two ex-Confederate Democrats of the House had pledged themselves upon their honor that they would not resist the decision of the Electoral Commission. We give Senator Hill's statement in his own words:—

"I am now about to reveal to you the grim outlines of what will some day form one of the most patriotic pages in American history, and after I conclude my brief narrative you will know just how much influence this so-called Wormley conference had in effecting the result of the Electoral count. When the decision of the Electoral Commission in the Florida case became known, I became satisfied that the disputed states would be decided in the South. If Mr. Hayes had that the issue which would be the legal inauguration of Mr. Hayes as President or another revolution. I consulted with a few ex-Confederates, all members of the House of Representatives, and the situation was thoroughly understood. Not to enter into unnecessary details, we, who had just emerged from a ruinous and disastrous war and had experienced its devastating effects—we ex-rebels determined to prevent a second civil war and spare the country from all the terrible horrors that would attend it. Accordingly, forty-two ex-Confederates solemnly pledged themselves to each other upon their sacred honor to oppose all attempt to frustrate the counting of the votes for President and Vice-President. We held no caucus, nor meeting. I called upon each gentleman personally and obtained his signature. I then presented it to him. We conducted the movement with the greatest caution for we did not desire our plan should be over-suspected. You may judge how well the secret has been kept when it has remained inviolate to this day. Having disclosed these facts, you can now determine what degree of importance to attach to the influence exercised by the Democratic members of the Wormley conference upon the result of the electoral count. The forty-two ex-Confederate Congressmen had pledged themselves to abide by the decision of the Electoral Commission several weeks before the Wormley conference took place, so that, despite the sensational rumors that filled the air, toward the close of the count, there never was the remotest possibility of trouble. We held the balance of power, and did not propose to permit another war if our voices could prevent it."

THURLOE WEED.

The Senate Committee on Territories will visit the Indian Territory after the adjournment, to ascertain on the spot the condition of affairs there. Senator Garland is a member of the Committee.

POLITICAL.

James D. McIver of Moore has been nominated by the Democrats as candidate for Solicitor for the Fayetteville District.

The Randolph Sun announces that a large majority of the voters of that county are in favor of Judge A. W. Torgue as the candidate for Congress in that district. He says:

When Congress first assembled a question was upon us; we had just emerged from a peril seldom witnessed in this country. A large number of laborers hitherto quiet and orderly were without the means of sustaining life; manufacturing establishments throughout the whole land had suspended work, closed their doors and turned their operatives into the streets; contracts were annulled and set at naught; business houses never before shaken were swept into bankruptcy. Congress alone was expected to furnish relief. What had been done to meet this expectation? The House of Representatives, in which measures of this kind originate, has turned a deaf ear to these wants, giving prominence to no measures which are not destined to increase the tenure of the dominant party in the House.

If we adjourn without doing something for the relief of the country, if we heed no longer the appeal which has come up to us from every locality, every town and city, but rely upon the old established HARDWARE HOUSE OF JOHN DAWSON, 19 North Market street, Wilmington, N. C.

Mr. Bryant's first collection of poems did not fill his youthful pocket. A gentleman who not long ago purchased for $5 a copy of this first edition, now very rare, took the book to this venerable poet, asking that he should write his autograph therein. Mr. Bryant complied, saying "Five dollars is more than I received on that whole edition."

In ancient Sparta, the government paid as much attention to the rearing of men as men now pay to cattle breeding. The law regulated the degree of fatness to which it was lawful for a citizen to extend his body, and when a man got too fat for military service, he was soundly whipped. Merciful, however, if David Davis had been an ancient Spartan! We might have heard him yell clear over here.

It appears that in Princeton Seminary H. M. Brown and F. J. Grimké, both colored students, were ignored while there, in the distribution of funds given by the Messrs. Stuart of New York, for candidates under the care of the Board of Education. The City Presbytery, at its last meeting, learning the fact, adopted a resolution requesting Dr. McGill, of the Princeton Theological Seminary, to give the reason for this discrimination.

A wise Dartmouth student has been in the habit of bracing up the conscience of his washerwoman by writing at the end of his wash list "Honesty is the best policy." But he rather overdid the proverb business the other day. His clothes were very dirty, so he wrote, "Labor omnia vincit." She evidently knew a proverb or two, even if they weren't classical, for he found written on the paper when returned, "Money makes the mare go."

On Wednesday, May 23d, Governor McCormick and Mr. L. P. Morton, Honorary Commissioners to the Paris Exposition from the United States, had the honor of receiving their Royal Highness, the Prince and Princess of Wales, and of showing them the American exhibition. His Royal Highness was most cordial in his appreciation, and expressed himself highly pleased with the exhibits and the courteous reception he had met with from the Commissioners.

NINE NOVGOROD FAIR.—The great market of the eastern world has been held at this junction of the Volga and Olga rivers in Russia, every summer for hundreds of years. Here the nations of Europe and Asia meet with their products for trade. Cossack, Chinese, Turk and Persian meet the German and the Greek with every variety of merchandise that mankind employs, from sapphires to grindstones, tea, opium, fur, food, tools and fabrics, and last but not least, medicines. J. C. Ayer & Co.'s celebrated remedies from America were displayed in an elegant bazaar where the Doctor himself might sometimes be seen. They are known and taken on steppes of Asia as well as the prairies of the west, and are an effectual antidote for the diseases that prevail in the acclimated north as well as the huts and cabins of the western continent.—Lincoln (Illinoian) Times.

The Republican papers in North Carolina, and the places they are published at, are as follows:

Register, Raleigh; Orionion, Elizabeth City; Spirit of the South, Rockingham; American, Stateville; New State, Greensboro; Pioneer, Asheville; Herald, Winston; Post, Wilmington.

John S. Manix, Esq., delivered the address at the annual decoration of the Federal Cemetery at New Bern.

A Remarkable Result.

It makes no difference how many physicians, or how much medicine you have tried it is now an established fact that German Syrup is the only remedy which has given complete satisfaction in severe cases of Lung Diseases. It is true there are yet thousands of persons who are predisposed to Throat and Lung Affections, Consumption, Hemorrhages, Asthma, Severe Colds, Coughs, &c., who have no personal knowledge of Boschee's German Syrup. To such we would say that 50,000 dozen were sold last year without one complaint. Consumers try just one bottle. Regular size 75 cents. Sold by all Druggists.

An Astonishing Fact.

A large proportion of the American people are to-day dying from the effects of Dyspepsia or disordered liver. The result of these diseases upon the masses of intelligent and valuable people is most alarming, making life actually a burden instead of a pleasant existence of enjoyment and usefulness as it ought to be. There is no good reason for this; if you will only throw aside prejudice and skepticism, take the advice of Druggists and your friends, and try one bottle of Green's August Flowers. Your speedy relief is certain. Millions of bottles of this medicine have been given away to try its virtues, with satisfactory results in every case. You can buy a sample bottle for 10 cents to try. These does will relieve the worst case. Positively sold by all Druggists on the Western continent.
